

Nationals Play the New York Yankees in Gotham To-day

Betting Odds on World's Series Favor the Red Sox

Money at 10 to 9, 10 to 7, and as High as 2 to 1 Is Offered by the American League Champs' Supporters.

New York, Oct. 2.—Depredation in Babe Marquard's stock in the world's series and odds of 10 to 9 and 10 to 7 in Boston, with the Red Sox the favorites, today gave a forecast of public opinion as to the result of the world's series baseball games, which begin here at 2 p. m. next Tuesday. Boston even went so far as to bet 2 to 1 against the Giants, but New Yorkers were more conservative, and 7 to 10 that the Giants would take the series was the best the supporters of the National League leaders would give.

Several large wagers and any number of freak bets were made, one man offering to bet $100 each time Marquard pitched that the Red Sox would win. Another offered $500 that Joe Wood would win every game he pitched against the Giants in Boston, but would not include games played in New York. Fandango was made happy this afternoon by the stand reserved seats for the games to be played in New York will be put on public sale at the Polo Grounds next Monday morning. To keep out speculators, each buyer will be allowed only two seats, and first come will be first served.

In Boston Fenway Park has been extended to its utmost limit. The diamond is protected by canvas, and 7,000 tickets, containing 2,000 reserved seat tickets, are ready to be mailed, all in preparation for the first world's series to be played in that city in eight years. Tickets were quoted in Boston today at $1 and $1.50 and $2.50 asked, subject to delivery.

Good Corps of Catchers.
Whether one leans toward Myers of Wilson, of the Giants, or Carrigan and O'Day, of the Red Sox, there will be plenty of catchers to keep out the backstopping end of the series. Quite enough to hold its own with the rest of the retinue.

McGraw will depend in the main upon his mission Indian, who will operate under the pen name of Chief Myers. Stahl will probably work Carrigan and O'Day almost evenly, as Cady backstops for Wood's pitching, and Mr. Wood is likely to be quite a busy person before the final game of the clash. As the pitching was sized up as a fairly even proposition, with Boston carrying a shade through the brilliancy of Wood, the catching should be upon an equal par, with any edge favoring the stalwart slugging Redmen.

Carrigan is one of the brainiest in the catching game. He is a good, consistent batsman, a wonder in working with his pitchers, with a shrewd, far-seeing eye for the play on the field. He is a good pitcher, a good hitter, and a good catcher for a youngster. He lacks nothing but the flame and fire of long tested battle. With Carrigan he forms an excellent working mate, and the two will protect the Red Sox end as well as Ira Thomas cared for the Mackman guard last year.

Myers a Wonder.
On the other hand, the Giants have one of the catching premiers of the game in Myers. He can hit any old time, but most of all in a pinch. With Larry Doyle last season he was the only other Giant who reached the 300 class against the flashy pitching of Bender, Coombs, and Plank.

Wilson is rated by many almost upon a par with the Indians. He can hit and he can catch, although not quite as steady in pegging as his oftener-worked mate. Wilson is likely to figure more as a pinch hitter, although he may be used to cooperate with Jeff Tesreau before the series is over.

There has never been any great amount of base-running done in a world's series, or any base-running which figured largely in the result.
Efficiency figure out that the batting here shown by the catchers used will be as vital a factor as the actual catching when the rival class is so nearly upon a par.

Announcement was made in Philadelphia today that Connie Mack, of the Athletics, is going to help Jake Stahl help his Red Sox in shape for the world's series games with the Giants. Last year when the White Elephants were getting ready for the Giants Mack aided Mark materially, and now the latter feels that this is the opportunity to return the compliment.

PHILLIES AGAIN TRIM NEW YORK

Dooen's Cripples Score Two Runs in Fourth, Which Prove Enough to Win from Giants.

New York, Oct. 2.—The Giants were again beaten by the Phillies to-day, in the final game of the season between the two clubs, by a score of 2 to 1. The Phillies won the verdict in the fourth inning, getting two runs on two singles, two sacrifices, a pass and a wild pitch Ames dropped out in the seventh to let McCormick bat. Merkle scored the Giants' lone run in the second, walking to first, stealing second, and, and scoring on Groh's single. Score:

CUBS WIN GAME.
Cotter Drives in Tally Beating the Pirates.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—The Cubs managed to grab the final game of the series from the Pirates, 6 to 5, to-day. Dick Cotter, batting out of his turn, drove the winning tally over in the tenth inning. Pittsburgh apparently did not notice that something was being put over. Cotter came up in the ninth to bat for Good, who had originally been sent in to bat for Jim Laverdier. He cracked out a single that brought Williams in from third with the run that tied the score. Cotter then went behind the bat and caught Pittsburgh's tenth, which was a bar in result. In the 10th inning, with one run needed, Cotter came to bat again, entirely out of turn, and rapped another single, scoring Schulte with the winning run. Score:

VIGILANTS TO PLAY.
Baseball Nine Meets Anacostia Club Next Sunday in Anacostia.

The Vigilants will play the strong Anacostia baseball club Sunday, October 5. As both teams are evenly matched, a good game can be expected. Games will be called at 2:30 p. m. on Anacostia's field. Grace, the heavy-hitting outfielder, who has just returned from Potomac, will play for the Vigilants. Batteries: Vigilants, Barton and Rodgers; Anacostia, Phelps and Phelps.

GONZAGA BEATEN BY CENTRAL, 12-6

Dugan's Boys Strong in Second Half—Holland the Star.

Central High defeated the Gonzaga High School team at Capital City League Park yesterday, 12 to 6, in a ragged game of football. The O Streeters looked far from a real school football team, and in the second half the light Gonzaga eleven played the Blue and White aggregation off its feet.
Stokes, McDonough, and Jones worked good for Coach Thomas' outfit, the former doing some good line plunging, but on the whole the work of the team was a disappointment. Coach Dugan, although handicapped by not having any heavy men, has taught the Gonzaga boys some good trick plays, and three times Holland got away for good gains by means of a forward pass. Holland, Marden, and Reardon all fought hard for Gonzaga. Line-up and summary:

Georgetown Basketball Captain Weds; It Is Case of Love at First Sight

FRANK SCHLOSSER.

Frank E. Schlosser, captain of Georgetown's basketball team last year, and one of the best known basketball players in the District, was married yesterday noon to Miss Eloise Burns, of 2514 Eleventh Street Northwest. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. John A. McGhee, at the Sacred Heart rectory, George Washington University. Also a famous basketball player was the best man, Miss Margaretta Ciesel, a lifelong friend.

WALTER JOHNSON MAY PITCH TO-DAY

Smokeball King Likely to Face the Highlanders—Nationals Anxious to Clean Up Series.

Griff's Nationals meet the New York Highlanders on the Hilltop diamond in Gotham this afternoon, and although the Old Fox before he left the Capital yesterday refused to announce his pitching selection, it is believed that Walter Johnson will go against Wolverton's tallenters.
The Nationals will work their hardest to clean up against the Yankees, as second place is at stake, and Griff's fondness now that the chance to win the pennant has gone by the boards, is far from a real school football team, and in the second half the light Gonzaga eleven played the Blue and White aggregation off its feet.
Stokes, McDonough, and Jones worked good for Coach Thomas' outfit, the former doing some good line plunging, but on the whole the work of the team was a disappointment. MISS ELOISE BURNS.

of the bride, was the maid of honor.

The marriage was the culmination of a pretty romance. Less than six months ago Miss Burns and Mr. Schlosser were strangers. An ardent basketball fan, Miss Burns attended the games played by the Georgetown quint and admired the husky captain from afar. An introduction followed one of the games, and as it was evidently a case of love at first sight, Miss Burns installed herself as a Georgetown rooter and mascot and Capt. "Schlosser," as he is nicknamed by the boys, was cheered ardently by the fair mascot every time he pulled off a clever play. Miss Burns is a beautiful Washington girl and until recently attended the Convent of Visitation at Frederick, Md. Mr. Schlosser graduated from Georgetown in the class of 1911, taking a post graduate course last year. He has played on the basketball quint four years and is regarded as one of the best men ever turned out at Georgetown.
Mr. and Mrs. Schlosser will be at home after Oct. 10 at the Carlisle, Fourteenth and Columbia Road.

GALLAUDET EASY WINNER OVER TECH

Gallaudet football team won an easy victory over Technicians High School in a practice game at Kendall Green yesterday afternoon, 14 to 0. The Buff and Blue eleven had things their own way throughout the short scrimmage of thirty-minute halves. The game was a practice one, and all the football rules were not adhered to, there being no periods in any one of the halves. The northeast collegians showed great improvement, both on the offensive and defensive, and several brilliant plays were pulled off. The Kendall Greens were in the Blacksmith territory nine-tenths of the time, Tech not once coming within 20 yards of their own goal.
Technical kicked off. By a series of line plunges and end runs Gallaudet had scored the first touchdown before the half had been going four minutes. Moore kicked an easy goal. After this the college players played as they pleased, and twenty-one points had been piled up to their credit at the end of the first fifteen minutes of play.
The second half was a repetition of the first, the only being scored by Tech, then for a touchdown. No wonderful work was done in any particular department, but the showing of Foltz, Rockwell, Moore, Jacobson, and Randall on the offensive, and of Foltz, Rockwell, and Decker on the defensive, was excellent work on the defensive side.
After the real scrimmage Coach Arras kept both teams on the field for a short time, and then the game was over. Gallaudet was instructed in the art of circling the opponent's flanks.
FIGHTING CHANCE FOR JIM CORBETT
Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—James J. Corbett has a fighting chance. He passed a good night.
This announcement was given out at Jefferson Hospital to-day in reference to the condition of the former champion pugilist, who was operated on last night for appendicitis.
The former champion lay at the point of death all night, but rallied during the early morning hours, and the hospital attendants expressed belief that his strong constitution would pull him through unless blood poisoning should develop.
Though the appendix was ruptured before the operation, condition often causing fatal peritonitis, the surgeons hoped that they had done their work in time to save his life.
Mrs. Corbett, summoned from New York by a message that her husband was dying, spent the night at the hospital, most of the time in her husband's room.
She broke down and wept several times as her husband raved in delirium of the battle with the disease, driving in the heavyweight title to Bob Fitzsimmons. Physicians believe that the solar plexus blow which lost him the battle with the former champion was the cause of his death, driving in the heavyweight title to Bob Fitzsimmons.
